Baseball 89 Trials and Triumphs

The Dogs' 1989 season opener was a tournament in Clanton against Clanton and Stanhope Elmore. Both games were lost, but since these were exhibition games, the two losses did not go on their record. After these games, the Dogs went on a five game winning streak, one of which was Thompson.

Although the Dogs had a few great thrills last season, they were also prone to a few hard times. Losing five out of their last six games, the Dogs ended up with a disappointing record of eight wins and twelve losses. "If we ended the season like we started it, I think we would have been a much more successful team," stated player Shane Baugh.

The Few, But The Proud

Having a small team can be discouraging at times but not to the 1989 track team. Leading the seven member team was Mr. Wally Blanton. "I am proud that we had a state champion. MHS has a lot of track potential and I hope that we can keep the program going," commented Coach Blanton. Derrick Gilmore was State Champion in the disc.

Tennis Team

1989 was the first year for MHS to have a tennis team. "It was a lot of fun. The tournaments were especially exciting," said junior Leanne DeHaven. The team consisted of David Givhan, Michael McClain, Chris Alley, Jennifer Lawley, Andy Roberts, and Jill Lawley. The coach was Mr. Bob Albritton, pastor at University Baptist Church. The team practiced at the University of Montevallo tennis courts. The area tournament was held at Briarwood. "I hope that MHS will continue having a tennis team. It can be a really competitive sport if more and more people try out each year," said senior Jill Lawley.

PROM

The prom is one of the most looked forward to events of the year by the juniors and seniors at MHS. The prom was held at the Governor's House Conference Center and Lodge in Montgomery. A prom on The Riverboat was canceled due to mechanical problems. Procat, a local DJ, supplied the prom with music. The decorations were red, white, and black complete with red roses, top hats, and canes.

The evening went smoothly as the couples entered in their tuxedos and evening dresses, ate, had their picture made, and danced. No one knew that only half an hour before, there had been million-dollar bulls being auctioned off on their dance floor! All went well and the Class of 1989 was able to leave Montevallo High School with one more special memory in their hearts.

Tuning Up!

Although school hadn't officially opened, students got a jump on others in meeting the eight o'clock tardy bell. The Troubadours began the 1989-90 marching season on August 1. The band members, flag corp, and majorettes met every morning from 8:00 to 12:00 noon while many sections returned once a week for hourlong section rehearsals. "I think if we make great sounds during our practicing, we'll be tuned up for all ones at contest", commented Myron Lilly, trumpet player.

Sweatin' It Out

Summer vacation ended early this year for the 1989 edition of the football team. The new team, in preparing for the upcoming season, began practice in early August. There were 44 players on the team. Out of those, there were sixteen seniors. For two weeks, practice was held for three hours twice a day. In the intense heat and dry air, the players looked forward to the occasional water breaks. The long summer practices and the two weeks of "two-a-day" practices helped to prepare the Bulldogs for their 10 game season. Ashley Hudson commented, "Two-a-days got us in shape and helped us prepare for games." Terry Wallace added, "Summer practice helped us to play a whole game without getting tired."

Summer Cheers

There is a lot of hard work and practice involved in cheerleading. The cheerers started practice not long after the football team began. During practice, the cheerleaders concentrated mostly on cheers and routines to be used at games and pep rallies. In addition to practicing, the cheerleaders painted the cheerleading room and the concession stand, and held a car wash to raise money.

Rachel McKinney commented, "Without practice, we probably wouldn't be ready for cheerleading." Senior Jennifer Crocker stated, "There was a lot of hard work involved, but it all paid off."

All in all, the Varsity and B-team spirit leaders demonstrated pride and support for both the football and basketball teams under the supervision of the sponsors, Donna Dickson (varsity), and Carol Holsomback and Dianne McKinnon (B-team).

For the first time in several years, Montevallo High School elected officers for each class. These officers organized Homecoming activities and class competitions. Mr. Latham, sophomore sponsor commented, "They took charge, they lead, and they got the kids going. Mike Reid, Heather Sullivan, and Brent Baugh were exceptionally hard workers. I loved every minute I spent, not only with them, but the entire sophomore class."

The junior officers were responsible for planning the Junior/ Senior Prom. "We recently secured the site for the 1990 Prom. The officers of the Junior class met with Mr. Hester and other Junior class sponsors to discuss committees for the Prom. When everyone's ideas were fitted together the Prom became a night to remembered." commented Michael McClain. With the new program that was experimented with this year, many positive comments about it were made by faculty, students, and parents who hope that it will continue in the future years.

This year's pep rallies showed definite signs of an all-out war between the classes for points to win Spirit Week. Each class tried to out-vell and out-smart the others. Some things used were sunglasses, "Jason" hockey masks, orange and blue pom poms, spirit rags, noise makers, balloons, and decorated grocery bags. The cheerleaders used new cheers, a cracker-eating/whistling contest, stunts, dances, and even a game called "Redneck Rollercoaster" to get the students excited. The winning class was recognized at the end of each pep rally by having the sought-after miniature footballs thrown at it.

Love Showers

"Shower Me With Your Love" started off Homecoming '89 as a theme for closeness. October 6, 1989 was the date. This Homecoming, the festivities flew high with spirit from every student. To begin the night, the Homecoming football game was filled with excitement with the Montevallo players leading the Briarwood Lions throughout the whole game. At the end, our boys won with 20 points on the board compared to the Lions zero.

Towards the end of the night, the traditional Homecoming dance took off in Montevallo's auditorium. Pro Cat had the music going as the students kept the spirit rising.

Yep, we look forward to it after every home game; yes, that's right, it's Soc Hop time. It can be a lot of fun, especially if you're with friends and enjoy dancing. Senior Craig Fant commented, "I really enjoy the soc hops. They give me time to socialize, dance, and it's a great chance to enjoy myself. The music is also fantastic."

Soc hops are held on Fridays after home games, last until 12, and are sponsored by Student Council. "To me it's like a great tension reliever. MIDDAY MISCHIEF

"Outside, outside! Everyone hurry up!" This statement is heard at 12:44 p.m., Monday through Friday, except when the weather is cold. Then its "Downstairs, downstairs! Hurry up! Don't sit on the stairs!" Whether its hot or cold, most students do the same things, inside or out.

Many students spend their "precious ten" reading books, cramming for tests, finishing homework, or maybe even completing that English paper on that book that has not even been read. Yet, there are those who have ten minutes to do almost anything they would like to do.

Mr. Morris commented, "When it's warm I spend most of my break outside playing horseshoes, and the rest of the time I drink coffee." Like Mr. Morris, many of the teachers spend their break with the students. Ms. Belisle, usually assumes her position on the front steps talking and laughing with her students.

"I spend most all of my break times out on the front lawn talking to all my friends," said senior Anglia Fletcher. She went on to say, "I am very happy there is a break in the afternoon. It gives everyone a BREAK from the monotony of school!"

HEAD TO TOE

Let's take a serious look at this year's fashions. As you walked down the halls, what styles interested you most? Almost everyone tried to keep up with today's fads, whatever they were.

Baseball hats, an occational Walkman, sunglasses, and a few left-ear earrings about did it for the guys' headwear at Montevallo High. For the girls, many things were popular. Long hair was often pulled out of the face by headbands, bandanas, and scrunchy ponytail holders. Earrings were worn in both ears for the girls, sometimes having several holes in each ear. The earrings worn were a variety of shapes, sizes, colors, and made from many different substances, such as wood, metal, cloth, plastic, and paper mache. There were coins, reflective stones, beads, and handmade Mexican little people. These "worry people," as they were sometimes called, also adorned barrettes and headbands.

T-shirts were hot for guys as well as girls, with emblems ranging from things like the well-known "Hard Rock Cafe" to favorite sports teams. Another unisex item was the vest. Originally, vests were part of the male wardrobe. Even though they are still worn by men, they are more popular now with girls. Turtlenecks were worn by males and females, under sweaters or worn alone.

Last year it was the baggy look, this year, anything went for bottoms! The tight and baggy looks were combined with things like bicycle shorts and cutoffs; so was just the baggy look, with loose-fitting boxers and cutoffs. In jeans, tightness and bagginess was acceptable, too.

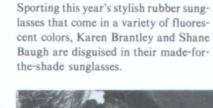

Guess? who these people are who are wearing the world famous blue jeans by Georges Marciano. The jeans come in a variety of styles, as shown by these students.

The most popular unisex style this year is worn-out blue jean cutoffs, accented by printed boxer shorts peek-a-booing out the edges of the cutoffs.

The standard white canvas Tretorn tenny-bopper are a shoe-in favorite for the girls at Montevallo High School.

Useful bandanas hold the hair out of many female students' faces. Also they are worn as belts, around the neck as scarves, and around the head as a headband.

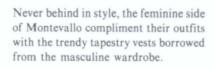

Filling in for regular tennis shoes this year for guys, are the ever-popular Dexter leather moccasins. These shoes are worn for casual and dress-up occasions.

The everlasting style of the "Hard Rock Cafe" emblem has yet to bore the students of MHS. The Cafe's trademark is also found on hats, sweatshirts, and jackets.

Supporting their favorite cartoon characters, like Mickey Mouse, Montevallo Students get comfy in their cotton decorative boxer-shorts.

SENIOR Expenses

There is a high price to pay to become part of the senior class. First, we went through elementary and middle school. After being "big eighth graders," we were thrown to the bottom of the heap as freshmen. One would think this would be enough payment for a diploma.

Not so fast there, seniors! Those years failed to prepare us for the many responsibilities that came with the privilege of seniority. Because of costly senior activities, many seniors were forced to get jobs. Some of the money from these jobs, along with parental help, paid for things from senior portraits to senior fees.

Our senior year left us with empty pockets, but many memories to fill the space. In exchange for these memories, we lost approximately $783. There is a high price to pay to be a senior, but the diploma makes it all worthwhile.

Sibling Day

Imagine the shock of meeting a younger brother or sister for the first time. What will I say? How will I act? What if they do not like me? Those might have been some questions the seniors and even the freshmen had before the Big Brother/Big Sister program.

The main objective of the Big Brother/Big Sister program, sponsored by the Student Council, is to help the incoming ninth graders become acquainted with MHS. "It was a great way to meet and help a freshman with life at MHS," said Luther Boothe, senior. The event has been a part of Montevallo High for many years. "I feel the program benefits a lot of the students." It lets the freshmen have a chance to meet a senior they otherwise would not meet, and vice versa," commented Mr. Horton, Student Council Advisor. "I think it helps both the seniors and freshmen," said Zina Cartwell. Most of the seniors and most of the freshmen felt that the Big Brother/Big Sister program was an enormous success.

A Four-Year Sweep

Kill, kill, kill the Lions, stomp them in the ground, bloody, bloody, bloody, we don't mess around.

The last line of the senior class's cheer perfectly describes their high spirited behavior during Spirit week. There was no "messing around" when it came to the planned Dress-up Days, the decorating of the school, the building of the float, and the showing of spirit the entire week.

This last line also describes the class of '90's behavior throughout its four years at MHS. Winning the spirit week competition for three years in a row, the seniors were pretty confident about their ability to win this year, too. "We all knew it would be a hard battle, even before the week began. After the activities got underway, it was even harder. It was tough, but we knew we would win because we have every year!" commented Senior Class President, Jeremiah Mayweather. Victorious this year by a large margin, the seniors made it a four-year sweep.

A Look at JUNIORS

The task of being a junior was not always an easy one. The class of 1991 was responsible for the prom, like all the other junior classes before them. The Alabama High School Graduation Exam, was a worry for all 11th graders, while college bound students had to prepare for entrance exams, such as the SAT and the ACT. The juniors began to experience the pressure that the seniors felt as upperclassmen. Being the elder students in the school, the junior class had an increased concern about grades and extracurricular activities. It looked as if there would not ever be a break, when class rings were finally ordered in October. The same opinion about this experience was shared by all who ordered rings. This was expressed clearly by Kathy Polk, "The year of our graduation is carved in gold or silver. Seeing it there really brings us one step closer to graduation."

SOPHS SOAR

The sophomore spirit at the pep rallies got off to a shaky start, but soon soared as the football season progressed. The sophomores handled the new Bulldog cheer well, and participated in the school spirit competitions. The B-team cheerleaders helped the sophomore class improve their cheering.

As Homecoming week got closer, the sophomores held nothing back. For the first year, the class of '92 gave the class of '90 a run for winner of spirit week.

At the Homecoming pep rally, Mr. Horton announced the places for winner of Homecoming Week '89. The sophomore class cheered when it was announced that they finished in second place. This was a really large step for next year's upperclassmen.

License to Drive

Most teenagers cannot wait until that special day when they are able to receive their driver's license. This long-awaited day, the 16th birthday, usually occurs in one's sophomore year. Learning to drive, however, often happens before the birthday. This was a new, exciting experience for most of the sophomore class. Mike Reid recalled the first time he attempted to drive. "I ran over some bushes, and then I almost ran into a tree! My father got really upset. It was a long time after that before he tried to teach me again." Gradually, most of these "so-so" drivers have more positive experiences behind the wheel, and are able to make a big step towards adulthood, the driver's license!

Wisdom With Age

Does wisdom accompany age? Likewise, does freedom accompany age? Many freshmen believe these axioms to the hilt. What difference could one school year make? First of all, it is up to each individual to be in more control of their lives from 8:00 to 3:00. For instance, it is up to the freshman to be on time or face the consequences of after school detention. In middle school they were marching from one class to the next in single file lines. And that's not the only difference. Now there are choices. Kerie Junkins expressed that she liked being able to choose her own classes; it's like deciding one's own fate. A pleasurable difference is having a ten minute break and free time between classes in which to visit with friends.

POPS LEADERS

"A school is only as strong as its leaders," is a maxim that has held true throughout the ages. A group of men and women directed and advised the activities at MHS with honesty and sensitivity. They recognized the needs and desires of the ever-growing student body and its' faculty and staff.

Guiding, advising, listening, and instructing were just some of the things that faculty and staff members did during a typical day. It was not unusual to see a teacher and a student sitting together in the hall, often in a deep and serious discussion. They took their work seriously, and they made a difference in the lives of students each day.

Even though she is not called "full time", Earlene Burke shows her dedication to MHS most every day by substituting or giving support to MHS's students.

A Superior Season

The award-winning MHS marching band achieved even greater heights during the 1989 season. This year they began their half-time show with "Alabama Fan Fare", the theme from Indiana Jones, the drum feature, "Peter Gun", and a "Tribute to America" that featured Michael McClain, Myron Lilly, and Andy Polk in a trio.

This year the Troubadours attended the Pell City Marching Festival, where they received superior ratings, and the Emerald Coast Marching Festival at Fort Walton Beach in Florida, where they also received excellent ratings. Drum Major, Jamie Roberts stated, "The Troubadours have had a great marching season. Our pride and determination brought us along way." Section leader of the flutes, Jennifer Yeager commented, "I am really proud of the season we've had, even though we didn't rate as high in some competitions as we should have. Its probably the best season we've had in my four years of being in the marching band."

The Troubadours this year have really added a lot more pride and spirit to our school.

Twirling Perfection

The 89-90 Troubadours season was an exciting one for the majorettes. The squad consisted of, head and senior, Dana Layton, juniors, Robyn Lawley, Angelia Blackmon, Rebecca Kelly, Crystal Minor, and sophomore, Joy Draper.

The squad was invited to participate in the All-American Bowl Parade on December 27th, and the halftime show December 28th, in Birmingham, because of their superior performance at the camp they attended in Tuscaloosa this summer. "I think the squad added much sparkle to the Friday night games, with their consistently outstanding performance," said sponsor Delilah Robinson.

Flag Corp

"5, 6, 7, 8, flags up", was Colorguard captain Zina Cartwell's motto as the flag corp began their 1989-90 marching season. The flag corp put in many hours of extra work this year. Many times they stayed after regular band practice. This extra work really paid off, as the flag corp got a "1" in the Pell City Marching Festival. "We have come a long way since last year." said head flag Zina Cartwell. The squad has a very good season, turning a mediocore colorguard into a superior squad.

Christmas Drama

The 1989 Montevallo High School Christmas play was called "A Rented Christmas Family". It was about a man named Robert Kelly (Chris Alley), who in trying to meet his boss's qualifications pretended to have a family. Many women offered to play the job of his wife, such as Sally Parker (Rebecca Blake), bag lady (Jennifer Yeager), a Swedish girl (Melissa Bramer), the Hatcher sisters, (Teresa Gentry and Renee Robertson), and finally Mary O'Riley (Jamie Roberts) with her younger brother Mark, (Andy Roberts) and sister, Lezea (Theresa Williams) who Mr. Kelly hired. The boss, Mr. Madson (Jeremiah Mayweather) knew all along that Mr. Kelly did not have a family. Mr. Latham, director of the play, stated, "This play and this cast will always be special to me because its the first play I ever worked with. They were wonderful."

After a long, hot and sweaty but rewarding week at cheerleading camp this summer, the MHS B-team cheerleaders came out on top by being rewarded all blue ribbons for their outstanding performances and efforts. "We really enjoyed camp; we all got a chance to learn new cheers, chants, and dances," commented sophomore Amy Benson. Not only did the B-team cheerers attend camp, they also practiced three times weekly or more during the school year, and they were required to have an average grade at the end of each six weeks not below a 75. Like the varsity squad, they were present at pep rallies, and football and basketball games. "I believe that everyone worked really hard to be the best we could," commented B-team head Jennifer McKinnon.

Students involved in the math team were ones who excelled at mathematics during the 1989-90 academic year. The math team competed at several tournaments and scored well. "The math team has continued to improve from year to year. Hopefully, it will be even better next year," said junior Jason Hughes. With each team being at a different level, they competed by ciphering and taking two-hour written exams. Leading the groups were math teachers, Doug Morris and Johnye Hor-

Hard Hitting

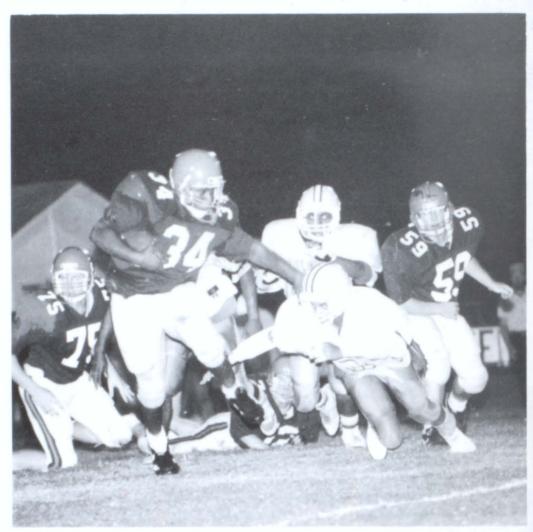

Senior fullback, Albert Jones, rushes forward for a big gain against the visiting Calera Eagles.

It all began on August 3, 1989, when forty-one players showed up to prepare to wear a MHS football uniform. The weather was hot, with temperature sometimes reaching well into the 90 degree range. The Bulldogs took to the field like savage beasts from a jungle, and that's how they played during their season. Coach Jim Vadades took his second edition of Bulldogs and posted a 3-7 season, tripling the number of wins from the past two years! Even though the season was better, injuries cost the Bulldogs a chance at winning the area title. Several of the injured were prominent players; Ashley Hudson, Kevin Turner, William Brown, Kacy Henderson, Noah Miller, Jared Smith, Terry Wallace, Todd Davis, Coty Jones, and Albert Jones. The dogs first victory came over county rival the Calera Eagles. This was a game in which the Bulldogs had revenge on their minds because of the score of the preceeding year when the Eagles manhandled the Dogs, 42-0. But this year, the Bulldogs won 27-6.

While receiving pass blocking from Chris Jones, Tailback Damian Hines sets up for the pass.

B-BALL

This was a year of triumph for the MHS B-team basketball team, finishing the season with a 14-5 record. The winning season was topped off when the team won the Shelby County Tournament. According to Head Coach Marc Edge, "This year will be remembered for the Shelby County Championship. The players definately agreed with William Brown when he said, "The high point of our season was getting to bring home the net after winning the Shelby County Tournament.

Another exciting part of the season was coming back and beating Thompson after an early season loss to them by one point. "Our hard work and team effort really paid off when we played Thompson," commented sophomore Tony Honeycutt.

The 1989-90 B-team was under the leadership of three juniors; Michael McClain. Shannon Fletcher, and Vealance Watts. According to Shannon "Pee-Wee" Fletcher, "Our team's effort and benchplaying made us the top team in the county." The top players in the County Tournament made the All Tournament team. From MHS, these players were juniors Michael McClain and Shannon Fletcher, sophomore Ric Shack, and freshman Mike Jones. These players demonstrated their outstanding ability by leading the B-team to a victorious tournament as well as a winning season.

While waiting for the game's action to resume, Sophomore Ric Shack catches his breath.

As opponents and team mates look on, Jeremy Broner goes up the for rebound.

Sophomore Jason Whitehurst recovers a dropped pass to the other team.

Prepared to make the rebound, Sophomore Tony Honeycutt awaits the shot.

Junior Shannon Fletcher prepares to fire a free throw shot.

Varsity Basketball

Todd Davis sprints down the court fighting to get in front of the opposing team.

Montevallo's basketball team opened the season with a rough start, losing a close one to Calera. The Bulldog's bounced back though as they won three straight over Pelham Shelby County, and Chilton county. Coach Pierson's team lost a controversial game against B. B. Comer, but gained their first victory in over nine years when they beat Thompson. The Cagers made two holiday appearances in the Thompson Holiday Classic and the Dora Invitational. In the Thompson Tourney, MHW went down to 6A opponent Shades Valley, but returned the next night to avenge their previous loss to the Calera Eagles. Two players off the Montevallo team were named to the All Tournament team. They were Randy Tolbert and Shane Baugh. The Bulldogs made their next tournament appearance at Dora. They started off with an impressive victory over 3A power Goodhope. On returning the next night the Dogs fell short to Hillcrest and were eliminated from the tournament. The squad opened the next decade with five straight wins, two of which came in the county tournament over Thompson and Pelham. The county Tournament brought the team a second place position as their hopes of a county championship were terminated by the small school champion, Vincent Yellow jackets. Todd Davis, Coty Jones, and Shane Baugh were named to the All-County Team. In bringing home the second place trophy, the 1989-90 Montevallo Basketball team began their goal of bringing the teams respect back to the level it should be.

Darrick Stallworth flies high to swoosh the hoop.

Myron Lilly tosses the ball to gain two points for the Bulldogs.

Shane Baugh spots the hoop and jumps for the point.

Aaron Fulgham, Doug Pate, and Lance Ernest slow down and wait for the game to speed up.

Coach Pierson peps up the team for a winning game!

Kacy Henderson and Myron Lilly goes up for the rebound.

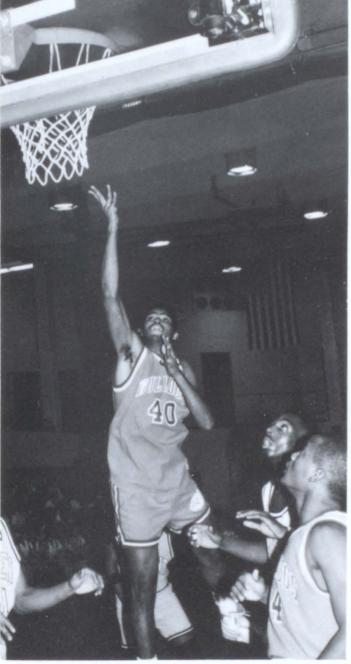

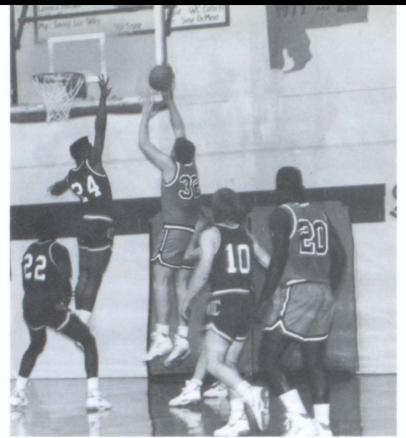

Kacy Henderson runs down the court, towards the action.

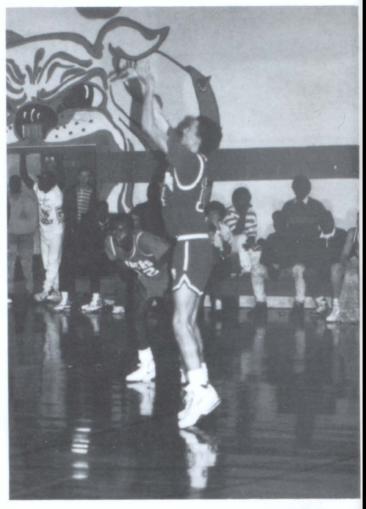

Concentrating, Senior Coty Jones attemps to shoot two to take the Dogs to victory.

Shane Baugh preps to throw a three-pointer.

Senior Aaron Fulgham reaches for a rebound to add two to the score.

Senior Todd Davis smoothly follows through as he adds two points to the Dogs victory.
